An Effort Is Made

The Graphic endeavors to be of service to its readers at all times. We try to fulfill such an obligation by reporting all the news, recording all the events, club and social as well, in an attractive, strictly objective manner. In addition, of course, we also present feature and human interest stories and columns of particular and pertinent interest.

In this attempt we can proudly say that in each issue of The Graphic appears as much, if not more news of people and events in the community, than any other newspaper circulating here, daily or

However, although we try our level best to please all of our thousands of readers, there are times when they will find fault with us. One complaint reads more or less thusly: "Why is this or that news item left out of the paper?"

The explanation is simple enough. Newspapers must be printed in units of two pages. It is impossible to have an odd page unless one page is left blank. Sometimes we have enough news left over for one additional page or a page and a half, but not enough for two. Since in such a case there may be nothing to put in to fill the additional space, something has to be left out. In such a case, we try to leave out only those items which believe will do the least harm if left until the following week.

Of course, there are also those rare occasions when the "gremlins" get into the works, and because of the ever present human element of error, some item of particular interest to an individual or to group or club or to the citizens as a whole, is unavoidably left out of the paper. Such accidents do happen.

We always try to remedy such an unfortunate situation as soon as possible. Unlike practically every other week-ly newspaper published, The Graphic uses only local, live and pertinent news. It does not have to resort to the use of "filler" material as do so many other weekly newspapers, and some dailies, too. Incidentally, it is well to bear in mind also, that although The Graphic comes out one day a week, it takes more than one day to produce it. Our staff tries to obtain and report as much news as possible and since we want to cover the city in a comprehensive manner, we are also dependent on clubs, organizations, and individuals to bring in items of interest to them, their organizations, or the general public. The Graphic is pledged to provide for its readers the best type of home-town newspaper possible. To that end we strive every day of the week!

Too Long a Rule!

The Republic of France, which has had troubles in plenty, furnishes an un-happy example of what prolonged Gov-ernment control can and does do.

Rent control was slapped on French housing during the First World War, and it's been on ever since. Before that time, a Frenchman paid about 16 percent of his income for housing. After the Second World War the proportion dropped almost to 1 percent. Today it is still only about 5 percent, after Government-decreed increases.

In such an unprofitable situation, French builders stopped building. As a consequence, and with the average house at least 125 years old, one out of every five citizens in Paris lives in a crumbling, overcrowded dwelling. Outside Paris it is even worse. No modern country houses its citizens so miserably, but Government rent control stays on!

At Lower Prices

New machines and new methods of production have always, in our American way, brought more and more goods on the market at lower prices—because more goods could be produced in less time and at less cost.

Common straight pins once had to be made slowly by hand, cost consumers three cents apiece. Now machine-made by the billions, three cents will buy a handful. Tin cans were made by handsix an hour, cost prohibitive. Now ma-chines turn out 21,000 an hour, and they cost a fraction of a penny apiece.

Offering Stones

It would be a mistake to apply possible tax reductions only for the purpose of stimulating "purchasing power" while ignoring tax reductions that would increase production and jobs.

This view is held by Dr. Harley L. Lutz, professor emeritus of public finance, Princeton University, who emphasizes that "the key to future economic advance and to the maintenance of employment, production and income, is capital forma-

This does not mean, Dr. Lutz notes in study, "What Kind of Tax Reduction?" that any tax reduction which is possible, within the terms of the budget, should be confined to those steps that would be confined to those steps that would benefit investors primarily or exclusively.

The economic incentives apply "across Massachusetts, was the first the board," the tax expert believes, and person in this state to play the any tax reduction that can safely or properly be made should apply as generally as

The mistake would be, Dr. Lutz contends, to concentrate tax-reductions ex-clusively to bolstering the discredited "purchasing power theory."

He holds that it would be "offering and the industry by driving this stones instead of bread" if any kind of and subsequent cars where tax reduction were pushed so far beyond none but horse-drawn wagons revenue requirements as to "expose all had ever ventured before. citizens to the danger of a renewed inflation that would deprive them of the ex-tra benefit of their tax saving." his father before him, is Presi-dent of the Board of Trustees

Political Overtones

Present indications are that State Treas rer Foster Furcolo, with some quiet but effective help from ex-Governor Dever, will be endorsed by the State Conquested to share with future vention as the Democratic candidate to oppose Senator Leverett Saltonstall next autumn.

It is understandable that Dever should give Furcolo a lift. It was Dever who persuaded Furcolo to leave Congress and become State Treasurer in 1952, and in a sense the ex-Governor has some obligation to Furcolo.

The Philbin adherents, as might be expected, don't view the situation quite so philosophically. They feel that the battle between Philbin and Furcolo would parents of three children, Albert have been close, if Dever had remained completely neutral, and that the Clinton Congressman would have had a good chance of winning.

As it is, however, Dever, who still commands tremendous influence in the Democratic party, probably has tipped the scales for Furcolo and given the State Treasurer the push he needed to achieve the endorsement. The Philbin contingent isn't at all happy about this turn of events. So far there has been no indication that Dever is taking a hand in any of the other contents. Should he do so, he could scramble the pre-convention forecasts.

The tremendously large number of delegates, the likelihood that about 200 of them won't even show up at Worcester and the possibility of last-minute shifts, serve to cast an air of uncertainty over came a Trustee of his alma mater, which was 51 years ago; he was named to the Executive.

State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley and Secretary of State Edward J. Cronin will be endorsed by acclamation for renomina.

It is expected that the Democratic delegates will adopt a rule providing either that a candidate who runs last, or who polls less than 50 votes on any ballot, is automatically eliminated from the com-

That procedure is intended to prevent the possibility of deadlocks which could occur, if four or five formidable contenders were engaged in a contest, with none able to draw a majority of the votes and none willing to yield or withdraw.

Should the delegates balk at such a rule and insist upon a system under which all the candidates would be in to the finish, unless they voluntarily withdrew, the conclave might last much longer than the two days scheduled.

Political onlookers anticipate that a brawl involving Senator Joseph R. Mc-Carthy will throw the convention into a turmoil in its early stages.

If the party brass had its way, Mc-Carthy's name would not even be mentioned at the conclave. The ADA members, however, probably will seek the adoption of a plank condemning Mc-Carthy, and it would be certain to meet strong resistance.

McCarthy, who already is a storm center in his own political party, may become a bone of contention in the Democratic party as well this weekend.

Mark Dalton of Dover is running for the Senate on an anti-McCarthy platform, and his backers may touch off the controversy over McCarthy, if the ADA wing does not.

Former Boston School Committee Chairman Isadore H. Y. Muchnick intends to seek the Democratic nomination for Congress in the district of Congressman Laurence Curtis where he now resides.

Muchnick as yet has made no formal pronouncement, but he already has started lining up support, preliminary to launching his campaign. He made an unsuccessful bid for the same nomination two years ago but lost to City Councillor Frederick C. Hailer, Jr., of Roslindale. Muchnick at that time did not live within the Curtis district but since has moved into it.

Hailer, who has been a candidate for public office each year for the past four years, is not planning to run for anything this year, and he probably would be hard pressed to finance a Congressional cam-

The popular Roslindale Councillor won election to the House of Representatives in 1950 and in 1951 achieved a seat in the City Council after hard campaigns in both the preliminary and final elections.

His supporters persuaded him to run for Congress in 1952, when Christian A. Herter gave up his seat on Capitol Hill to become a candidate for Governor, and he waged both energetic primary and election campaigns.

Last year Hailer waged an uphill battle to retain his post in the city govern-ment. While he undoubtedly will be in the thick of one or more campaigns this year, it will not be as an active candidate unless he changes his mind. That may leave the primary field clear for Much-

With a rumbling chuckle, George put aside the magazine he had been reading.

"So what's amusing," Mrs. Rimer asked. "Well, it seems that this man on the train had finished reading his copy of the Chicago Tribune, and so he leaned across the aisle and asked this little old lady, who was just sitting there doing nothing, if she'd like to read it." "Just being friendly, I'd say," Molly interrupted. funny about it

"The little old lady asked the man what paper it was, and he said it was a Chicago paper—maybe she'd like to look it over. 'No, thank you,' she said, 'I don't know anybody in Chicago'!

The Mrs. forced a faint smile.

"Well, maybe it isn't an up roarious joke," George admitted. "But it struck me as amusing. The lady was from one of our small towns, I suppose, and used to reading about her friends and neigh bors in the home-town week "So?"

"So the Chicago paper had all the national and interna-tional news about wars and erises—but the little old dear just wanted to read about the doings of plain, unimportant people, the sort of news the home-town weeklies specialize in . . . Lord bless 'em, I say, and may their tribe increase!'

One can never stop marvelins at the miracle of television and how it works. First it's an action in a TV studio (or elsewnere). Then it's a picture recorded on the TV camera. Then it's turned into electricity, in the form of electrons. Then it becomes rado waves sent out from the transmitting station to your antenna and thence to your set. There is electricity again, until finally it is once more a picture again.

It is once more a picture again.

It is once more a picture again.

It is made up of 525 lines of light and dark, which are visible to the naked eye. These 525 lines are repeated 30 imes per second. You see these lines as a complete picture, and the 30 pictures per second as a continuous action, because your eyes simply can't work as fast as that. One day in the future TV pictures will have as many as a 1000 lines. . . which will make them even sharper than they are now.

Temple Emanuel's School Praised By N. Y. Educator

The Hebrew School at Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, has een lauded by Dr. Azriel Eisenberg, executive vice-president of the Jewish Education Committee of New York and an authority in education, after spending a day at the Newton Centre school observing the lasses in action.

In a report to Dr. Albert I. Gordon, rabbi, Dr. Eisenberg stated, "As you know, I only spent a day at your school, but want to say that I was very much impressed with it. The neatness, orderliness, the attractive displays, all give the visitor a most favorable impression of the school at first sight. However, more than anything else, the school is to be highly commended for instituting an intensive Hebrew religious educa-

"The fact that your school has been constantly intensifying its program, raising its standards and setting its sights higher and higher, is a tribute to the leadership of the congregation, to you, Dr. Martin Goldstein (educational director), the staff, the school board, the parents and the pupils," he said.

"Lastly, may I say that I was most impressed with the quality of instruction and the high achievements of the seven children I saw in your highest class. I think the congregation will reap a rich reward in the fact that these children are setting a standard for Temple Emanuel, which will justify the efforts, and the expense of the work invested in the school.

"The fact that your students will be admitted to the Hebrew Teachers' College and will set a high level not only for Temple Emanuel, but for the whole United Synagogue conservative ment of Philip Hamburg of congregational school movement, should be a source of pride and joy to the congregation, as indeed it will be to all of us. From my vantage point, I can tell you that your congregational school deserves great commendation, especially for the quality of work that I was able to see the short time that I visited you. May you go from strength to strength, and to succeeding to higher levels of attainment.

The Orange and Black totaled 281/2 points to nose out secondplace Rindge Tech, which picked up 26. The week before, Newton had again nipped Rindge for the Greater Boston championship.

Lou Kahlenbeck, who set a mark last year in the javelin toss, shattered his own record by almost eight feet. The new record is now 175 feet, one-half inch. Kahlenbeck also picked up a third place in the 180-yard low hurdles.

Mal Shine hefted the shot 49 feet, four inches to easily take the state crown in this event. His nearest opponent was almost five feet behind. John Angier, who will be back next year with Shine to give Coach Lem Boyle a solid backbone on which to build, took third place. Bill Miller was the third Newtonite to be crowned a state champion as he whirled the discus out 133 feet, 3% inches. Bob Cedergren took third in the discus to give June 9.

A child becomes graceful at the table with the help of friendly, patient gown ups.

Today, the child study specialists want parents to take their minds off how a child eats and to focus on how to make mealtime fun. Seeing the child's point classes in English, French and of view makes a happy atmosphere. "Why scold?" they comment, his fingers into all kinds of food Parents can't expect a child to have table manners until he has learned to eat a variety of foods. It's the same rule "practice makes perfect" which adults find encouraging when they learn a new skill.

The youngster also has to progress enough so he can handle food and his spoon, fork and knife. That growth and ability doesn't come at the same age for every child. Just as some children learn easily to tie their shoes, some tots whose muscle control is good learn young to feed themselves neatly, while others are slow to learn skills with their hands.

WAY UP THE CREEK

Three men were sitting on a park bench. The man in the hough asleep. But the men on middle was sitting quietly, as either side of him were going through the motions of fishing. With deadly seriousness they would cast, jerk their lines gent-ly, then swiftly wind imaginary reels. This had been going on for some time when a policeman sauntered over, shook the man in the middle awake and defriends of yours?"

"Yes, officer," said the man.
"Well, get them out of here then."

"Right away, officer," said the man as he began rowing

Nearly 700 in Senior Class; Main Speech by M.I.T. Dean

About 5000 parents and friends are expected at Dickinson Stadium Saturday at 7 p.m. when nearly 700 members of the Class of 1954 at Newton High School receive their diplomas at the annual Graduation Day exercises.

In the event of rain, the exercises will be postponed until the same time on Sunday. The ceremonies will actually get under way at 6:30 p.m. with a special musical program featuring marching by the high school band.

The graduation address will be delivered by Dr. John Ely Burchard, dean of the School of Humanities and Social Studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Dr. Burchard will speak on the topic

The diplomas will be awarded by School Committeeman Guernsey Camp Jr., assisted by Raymond A. Green, retiring Newton High principal, and James Forbes, director of Newton Technical-Vocational High School.

Others who will participate in the ceremonies are Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., who is president of the Newton High School Alumni Association; Rev. Randolph S. Merrill, minister of Central Congregational Church who will deliver the invocation; Charles C. Macomber of the Class of 1918, who will announce the winner of the Meserve Fund Scholarship; and Harold B. Gores, Supt. of Newton Schools.

Democrats Unlikely to Hold Conclaves for Long Time . . Republicans Will Stage More Quiet Convention This Week

After watching the first pre-primary State convention the Democratic party in Massachusetts has held in 18 years, it is the considered judgment of this observer that the Democrats should wait longer than 18 years before holding another such assembly.

It's easy to understand why ex-Governor Paul A. Dever, on the basis of his own experience at the 1934 and 1936 Democratic conclaves, vowed that no law reviving pre-primary conventions in Massachusetts would be placed on the statute books while he was sitting in the Governor's chair.

Perhaps the big difference may be traced to party discipline, but cold fact of the matter is that the Democratic party in Massachusetts apparently is unable to utilize a State convention as an effective political instrument in the same manner as does the Republican Party.

There will be some feeling manifested in the same Worcester Municipal Auditorium this weekend over the fight for the Republican nomination for State Treasurer, but the likelihood is that the differences will be mostly ironed out behind closed doors and that even that contest will be settled on just one ballot.

In light of recent remarks that New England is "slip ocean with its tremendous ocean with its tr ping," Dr. Stevenson pointed out that the area was never made to produce textiles. Neither cotton or wool are indigenous to the community and sources of power have improved since the use of steam in the early mills. Instead, other industries are replacing textiles. With 2 percent of the total United States area, 6.1 percent of the population lives in New England. Located here are

Praise Fire Dept. For Quick Action In 2 Emergencies

Two letters praising the Newton Fire Department for its prompt action in administering oxygen to emergency cases have been received by Chief John E. Corcoran. The letters follow:

I called upon your department to respond to the south side of the city on an emergency call for oxygen therapy at about 6:00 p.m., May 26, 1954. In almost no time a fire apparatus responded. Eager and efficient firemen brought the apparatus to the sick-room and acted very efficiently and pro-fessionally in aiding me. I believe a life was quickly saved by this quick work and, as a physician and citizen, I am proud of our Fire Department and take this opportunity to thank and praise them.

I hope my sentiments may passed on to that company.

Newton Library Outstanding

Among cities of its size the Newton Free Library is outstanding in book circulation, the type of community and number of branch libraries being important factors. The statistics of public libraries in cities of from 50,000 to 99,999 population just issued by the U.S. Office of Education, Circular No. 396, show that only three city libraries in this grouping had an annual book circulation in 1953 of over seven hundred thousand volumes. These were:

Adult Juvenile Total Hammond, Ind. 272,934 669,478 942,412 Newton, Mass. 435,376 312,363 747,739 318,402 401,452 719,854

The Newton Library is first in the circulation of books to adults, and in the size of its book collection. Hammond leads in juvenile book circulation because of its large circulation to and through the

During the first five months of 1954, the Newton Free Library had an increase of 25,615 volumes. Other public libraries are having increases in circulation.

The Newton Free Library goes on a summer schedule from June 15 to September 15. During this period the libraries are closed on Wednesday evenings. The Branch Libraries are closed on Saturdays, the Main Library closes at noon on Saturdays.

The June meeting of the Board of Library Trustees will be held on Friday afternoon, June 18. At this time a general report will be received from the committee which has been making a special study of the organization and operation of the Library. There will also be submitted individual reports from the two library consultants, Mr. Philip McNiff, Librarian of the Lamont Library, Harvard University and Mr. John A. Humphry, Director of the City Library, Springfield, Massachusetts.

Nation-wide Alert

Massachusetts Civil Defense personnel will be ready when the first nation-wide air-raid drill for 175,000,000 Americans and Canadians will be held on Monday morning, June 14. Colonel John J. Maginnis, State Direc-, in addition to covering all the Civil Defense services has secured the cooperation of Mayors, City Managers and Selectmen. Retail establishments and industrial plants have been asked to comply with the regulations governing the alert. All sirens and warning signals have been tested. Clergymen have been notified of the time of public participation with the suggestion that they make the proper announcements at their morning services on June 13th. Newspapers, radio stations and television stations have announced their cooperation.

The public participation phase will be from 10:00 a.m. to 10:10 a.m. Half an hour before at 9:30 a.m. the YELLOW alert will be sent out over radio and television but at this time there will be no audible warning. At 10:00 a.m. the sirens will sound. Regular police, auxiliary police and air-raid wardens will stop all pedestrians and vehicular traffic, directing everyone to take shelter. People at home and in commercial buildings will be told to go to shelters until the "all-clear" is sounded at 10:10 a.m.

The public participation will be conducted under the "duck and cover" theory. Mass evacuation plans are being worked out for metropolitan areas throughout the country.

After the public participation test has been completed all Civil Defense forces of the country plus those of Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Alaska and ten Canadian provinces will be in operation for a 24hour period. During this round-the-clock operation it will be assumed that Boston will be hit by a bomb eight times as large as the Hiroshima bomb with a destructive power equal to 160,000 tons of T.N.T. The bomb will be supposed to "hit" over the corner of Essex street and Harrison avenue. Hartford, Connecticut, will also be "hit" as well as many other major cities in the country. In New York State, for instance, three bombs will "strike" New York City and one each will "fall" on Buffalo and Schenectady.

All divisions of the State Civil Defense Agency will be at the Control Center at Framingham Police Barracks on Route 9 during the 24-hour test operation. Esti-

Newton Graphic mates will be received there of the "casualties" and "damage" in Boston based on the reports received.

> Theoretical assignments will be given to Civil Defense sectors outside the bombed area but no personnel or apparatus will move. This operation is strictly a paper test.

> The nation-wide exercise was planned at the suggestion of President Eisenhower and will be supervised and evaluated by Governor Val Peterson, National Civil Defense Director and his staff.

Pedestrian Protection

For the eighth consecutive year, Massachusetts has topped all other states in its safety group to win first place honors in the American Automobile Association's annual Pedestrian Protection Contest. The Bay State shared the top honors for 1953 with the State of Colorado.

Announcement of the Common-wealth's award for its excellent safety program for pedestrians was made today to Governor Christian A. Herter, Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph F. King, and the Massachusetts Division of the Honored for "outstanding leadership in pedestrian protection" was Registrar King, contest representative, which makes his sixth consecutive award for his activities in behalf of pedestrian safety.

Six Bay State communities also won highest national awards for their pedes-trian safety records during 1953. Belmont, for the second consecutive year won first place honors in its population group, Fall River, Easthampton and Palmer won second prizes, Concord and Mansfield tied for third prize, five cities and towns received honorable mention and 13 communities were awarded special AAA citations-a total of 24 Bay State communities honored for their pedestrian safety records in 1953.

Held annually since 1939 to honor states, cities and towns and officials who proaching it from the wrong would prevent the recurrence of make the most effective efforts to cut down pedestrian accidents, the AAA contest this year listed 1,571 cities and 46 states submitting their records for nation-wide comparison. 139 Massachusetts cities and towns entered the 15th annual AAA competition.

The Town of Belmont won first place in the 25,000 to 50,000 population class for the second consecutive year, having the enviable record of 2,872 death-free days; and is also the leader of 34 Massachusetts communities of 5,000 population and over. Special mention was made of the town's strong program of safety en-gineering and public information activi-

Fall River tied with Allentown, Penna. in the 100,000 to 200,000 population group for second place and Easthampton tied with Van Wert, Ohio for second place honors in the 10,000 to 25,000 class.

Keenest competition comes in the "under 10,000" group, for which 709 cities sent entries. Concord and Mansfield tied with three other communities for third place in that category.

Boston, Hingham, Agawam, Bridgewater and Great Barrington won honorable mentions.

Special AAA citations went to Bedford, Dudley, Northbridge, Seekonk and Wrentham for their outstanding accident record with no pedestrian deaths; Brookline and Cambridge for their excellent ac-cident record and to Dedham, Haverhill, Unimeadow, Pittsfield, Wellesley and Winchendon for their strong pedestrian Howard Whitmore Jr. programs.

Grand award winners were the State of Kansas and the cities of Kansas City and York, South Carolina.

Ralph A. Thomas, pres AAA, in expressing his appreciation to all of the state and city officials who coming the section where I reside, piled the entries said that the number of cannot be maintained by the pedestrian fatalities has dropped in the City, as it never has been forpast 15 years in almost the same proportion that the number of Contest entries public way. The John Eliot has increased. When the first Contest rath connects Algonquin road was held in 1939, only 107 cities turned in reports. This year 1,571 participated.

From reports received in the contest, the AAA prepares individual analyses for the cities and states, giving detailed evaluations of their pedestrian accident lie way by residents and others records and recommending steps which city officials may take to cut down pedestrian accidents.

Acting Warden Ted O. Mullen of the State penitentiary in Florence, Ariz., quit when his request for a $2400-a-year salary increase was turned down, despite an offer by 500 convicts to pay the raise out of their own recreation fund. -0-

Seeking a divorce in Bridgeport, John Maffucci told the court that his wife, Clarice, had repeatedly informed him that her one aim was to make his life so miserable that he would get ulcers.

MAKE PARENTS LIABLE (The following letter was originally addressed to Gov. Christian A. Herter, and a copy of it was sent to the Graphic).

My dear Governor: with such people as Judge Tomasello on this juvenile bill, end. Let's wake up and state facts.

Only one thing is necessary to correct this situation and that is a law (it has long been an unwritten law for all real Americans) to make parents Americans) to make parents or guardians (each child un-der 21 must have one or the other) 100 per cent responsible for all actions of their chil-

Governor Herter, Senator Saltonstall, Lieutenant Governor Whittier and Attorney General Fingold all will be nominated by acclamation.

Representative McCarthy of East Bridgewater will get the nomination for Secretary of State on one ballot, and Representative Constantine of Clinton will be nominated for State Auditor on a single

The one real contest will be for the nomination for State Treasurer, and the only reason that will have any semblance of a genuine fight is that Representative Augustus Means of Essex and Selectman Roy C. Papalia of Watertown had extensive support lined up before Republican State Committee Chairman Elmer C. Nelson decided that the candidate who could contribute the most to the G.O.P. State ticket was Senate President Richard I. Furbush.

Some political observers profess to believe that it may take several ballots to settle the battle for the Republican endorsement for State Treasurer. Perhaps that will prove to be the fact, but it is our prediction that Nelson will get the man he wants and that Furbush will be nominated on the first ballot.

Supporters of Executive Councillor Pa belief, that what is sought is in rick J. McDonough of Dorchester believe the public interest, since the perpetuation of worthwhile landthe boom on McDonough in the Worcester Municipal Auditorium early last Sunday, when the Dorchester man had the Democratic nomination for Governor almost within his grasp.

That is true only in the sense that Dever persuaded Thomas H. Buckley of Abington, former chairman of the State Commission of Administration and Finance, to withdraw from the gubernatorial contest and set the stage for the endorsement of Minority House Leader Robert F. Murphy of Malden. It was fairly apparent that if Buckley dropped out of the fight, most of his delegates would probably shift to Murphy and they would provide enough added strength for the Malden man to assure his nomination.

However, if Buckley had not quit the contest and held his strength, the contest might have been deadlocked indefinitely. There was one turning point in the Democratic State Convention and one previous incident that could well have caused the conclave to conclude in a set-

The colorful, hard-driving McDonough captured the first three ballots. As the front-running candidate, he appeared, on the surface at least, to be in a strong position, although there was considerable doubt that he could attract Buckley's supporters, if and when the latter withdrew.

Murphy's followers were anxious and ittery after the third ballot. Their canlidate had trailed McDonough three times. The fight was tight and tense. Neither side showed any sign of giving ground.

Representative James Doncaster of Somerville, one of Murphy's backers, arose and moved that the convention throw in the towel and adjourn without nominating any candidate for Governor.

If that motion had been put to a vote, it probably would have been adopted. Many of the delegates were tired and anxious to get home. It surely would have been adopted, if the McDonough forces assented and supported it. But McDonough opposed it, and the motion was ruled out of order. As the candidate who had ran ahead on three successive ballots, McDonough would have been the logical nominee for Governor, if the convention had adjourned at that point without giving any candidate a majority of the votes.

The actual turning point occurred when the delegation from the Chelsea-Revere-Winthrop area was allowed to change its vote at the end of the fourth ballot.

That delegation, possibly in a gesture of disgues, had cast some of its votes for State Senator John F. Collins, who was a candidate for Attorney General, and its spokesman, Senator-Mayor Quigley of Chelsea asked permission to change the Collins vote.

City Councillor Edward J. McCormack, Jr., McDonough's Suffolk County campaign manager, didn't object to the request because he thought the votes we to be shifted from Collins to McDonous

At that stage McDonough was ahard by three votes on the fourth ballot. Whether it would have changed stilsequent events, if he remained ahead, .: a question, but the fact is that he would have been the top man on four successive ballots, if Quigley had not been permitted to change his delegation's vote.

the revised totals of his delegates, the votes that had been cast for Collins were shifted to Murphy rather than Mc-Donough, putting Murphy in the lead for the first time during the night.

Some observers believe the Buckley delegates, in their anxiety to be with the winner, might have gone over to Mc-Donough instead of Murphy, if the tally had shown McDonough still leading at the end of the fourth ballot. Others insist that the ultimate result would have been unchanged, and that the Buckley backers would have shifted to Murphy even if McDonough had been in front.

The opinion in either case can be only a matter of conjecture, and no one can state unequivocally what any delegate might have done under different circumstances. The fact is that McDonough didn't miss nomination by very much and that Murphy didn't achieve it with a great deal to spare.

McDonough actually made a tremendous showing. He waged largely a one-man fight. He had no political organization behind him in a State-wide sense. He had the support of energetic friends, but mostly he depended on his own personality and his own terrific drive.

Murphy had the backing of about 80 legislators who formed the nucleus of a State-wide machine. He also started campaigning before McDonough and was lining up delegates while McDonough was still waiting to learn what ex-Governor

Dever was going to do.

Despite all this, McDonough drove i to the lead on the first gubernatorial ballot of the convention and remained in driver's seat most of the way. If the legislators had not stood firm behind M phy and kept him up within striking ( tance, McDonough would have won w

The convention left scars upon the dearocratic party, as conventions of that kind almost always do. The efficiency of regular volunteer services, such as Can-teen, Home Service, Motor Service and Nursing Services was cited by the Chairman. Special tribute was paid to Mrs. Edith Chase, Director of Home Service, for her handling of small disasters.

Mr. Walter A. Hood, Co-Chairman of the Registration & Information Committee and Mrs. Chase reported on a twoday seminar on Registration & Information in Boston, attended by six members of the Chapter late in May.

Plans were discussed for a Disaster Institute next fall, and for a recruiting program to bring the various sub-committees up to strength. The Chairman pointed out that the Police and Fire Departments are ready at an instant's call at any hour of the day or night to bring only trained volunteer workers of the Red Cross and affiliated organizations can effectively bring relief and rehabilitation to the victims and their families. It is urged that citizens be willing to seek membership in the committees organized to be ready for disaster relief work. The names of volunteers are always acceptable at the Chapter House.

School.

Children's Sunday was celebraetd June 6 at the First Unitarian Church in Newton with a special service, including two christenings, presentation of at-tendance awards and faculty recognition.

Beginning with the traditional floral procession during the organ prelude, members of the church school from the primary, lower and upper school groups carried garden flowers to the altar, followed by the senior choir Troop leaders, assistants, Troop and congregation singing "Forcommittees and Mariner Ship ward through the ages." The senior choir sang two anthems during the service.

The primary choir then assembled on the chancel steps to sing an old English anthem, "All Things Bright and Beautiful, directed by Mrs. Elizabeth Sweetser.

Except for the sermon by the minister, Rev. John Ogden Fisher, church school pupils conducted the service as follows: Call to Worship, Marjorie Tap-

The Newton Girl Scout Council is one of the busiest organizations in Newton, but so quietly does it do its work that many people are unaware of its service to youth.

A revolutionary change in its own structure took place at a recent meeting, when the group voted unanimously to have new by-laws ready by its next annual meeting in January, 1955, so that every registered Girl Scout adult in Newton will be as full voting member of the Council. At the present time the Council is operating under the form whereby only officers.

The finance committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Leon Lamb, prepares the Council's budget each year, after receiving and correlating the budgets of all the committees. The Council's one money-raising activity each year, to supplement the grant from Community girls, is the cookie sale. Mrs. Edson DeCastro was chairman of this activity this year. Part of the duties of the Committee is to determine when the Council may grant assistance from the Campership Fund for the trips mentioned above, and decide what money raising acti-vities may be presented to the Community Chest on behalf of troops, for its approval for the same purpose.

The Senior Cups will be presented by Mayor Whitmore, a NHS graduate in 1924. These cups are given annually to a senior boy and girl for outstanding character, service, leadership and scholarship.

The Dickinson Memorial Athletic Cup, given by the Massachusetts Coaches Association in memory of Alfred W. Dickinson, former teacher-coach at Newton High, will be awarded by Principal Green. This cup is given to the boy in the senior class for improvement in athletics through cooperation, team play and sportsmanship.

Mr. Macomber will announce the winner of the Charles D. Meserve Scholarship, which was founded by alumni and students in memory of a revered teacher at the school.

A new award to be given this year is the William E. Connors Memorial Award, sponsored by the Newton Coaches Association. Established in memory of a physical education instructor who died suddenly last year, the award goes to the senior boy who exemplifies outstanding spirit by placing the team above him-

Merrimack Coll. Gives W.N. Man Honorary Degree

Valentine street, West Newton, was presented with an honorary Doctor of Commercial Science degree last week during commencement exercises of Merrimack College at the school's North Andover Archbishop Richard J. Cushing presided over the exercises and conferred the honorary de-gree on Mr. Williams. The West Newton man, a graduate ton, Annette Hartbower, Mary of Colby College, has been as Perry, Susan Lawson, Joan sociated with New England Litchfield, Lucinda Long, Kathtextile mills since 1911. He aleen Paturas, Nancy Roche, Assabet Mill in Maynard.

also served as president of the Springfield Metal Stamping Company from 1922 to 1925. A native of Franklin, Mr. Williams has held directorships in the New Haven Railroad, New England Transportation Company and the Palmer National Bank.

Mr. Williams was presented Adams. for his honorary degree by Rev. Joseph A. Flaherty, O.S.A., director of part-time sessions at Merrimack College, who read the following citation:
"Edward F. Williams of

to manufacturing, manage-ment and finance, belies the charge that successful business management must be founded on the barbarous practices of rugged individualism, rather rugged individualism, rather than responsible citizenship. Knighted in the Papal Order of Malta, a man of sterling character, business acumen and keen judgment, his varied positions of responsibility give* evidence of the high esteem of his fellowman. Gifted with insight and vision, a ready adaptability to changing conditions and an inflexible adherence to principle have brought success to many enterprises. Despite the exacting rigors of numer-ous obligations, he has found time for leadership in many religious projects. Silent bene factor of many charitable causes, prudent counselor of many institutions, the success ful achievements of I crowned by a firm belief and practice of his Catholic faith. Merrimack College is pleased to honor a militant warrior and in recognition of his many out standing qualities, Father President, I present Edward F. Williams for the degree Doctor of Commercial Science.

Theme of the elaborate event "Art and Flowers in the Home." It will be highlighted by construction of four special rooms which will be furnished and decorated realistically to provide backgrounds for flow er arrangements. Rooms will be furnished in the following periods: Early American, French Provincial, Contemporary and Georgian. The out-side of the rooms will be planted in addition to the arrangements in the interior. In addition to the rooms, the front of an old house will be constructed, using authentic windows, clapboards, and door Planting around this will illus-trate typical front door arrangement of shrubbery and flowers. The show will be an official one and contestants will be judged in the following classifications: Arrangement, Horticultural, Junior Exhibits, Conservation and Education. Frederick Walkey, Art Advisor of the DeCordova Mu-seum, Lincoln, is providing pictures and sculpture for the show. The Arrangement Class will be related to specific pic tures, while the sculpture will be used in a patio constructed behind the rooms

Top to Toes Tips for Summer

The season for swim suits and playclothes is almost here and because more of you will and because more of you will be showing you'll wan't to look your best from top to toes. Here is a simple good groom-ing check-up which Norma Craig, associate beauty editor of the Woman's Home Com-panion, suggests you follow during the summer months:

1. Be sure to keep creams and lotions on hand to combat the drying effects of sun and If your skin is sensitive, choose a sun protective with extra screening effect. 2. If blackheads are your problem, clean skin with soap and water, steam with hot washcloth, press out with comedo extractor. You can cover birth and vaccination marks with tinted waterproof cream.

Divers Will Exhibit at Science Museum

The Museum of Science dock on the Charles River will be the take-off point Saturday for demonstrations of deep-sea diving by men who spend all their working hours encased in heavy gear as they salvage ships, lay submarine cables and do other construction and repair work far below the surface.

The Tracy Marine Divers of Dedham, specialists in this unusual field, will give the demonstrations, which are free to the public and believed to be the first of their kind in New England. They will be held at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. In case of rain the program will be postponed to Saturday, June 26.

A feature of each session will be the opportunity to hear the divers talk with the surface from the river bottom via tele-

Diver Nick Tracy will demonstrate the 300-lb. heavy Navy helium oxygen diving equip-ment designed for use under high pressure to depths of 600 feet. Diver James Caldon will use standard commercial diving gear, weighing 135 pounds.
As the divers are dressed by their tenders in their diving gear and go below, Arthur L. Mercer, famed veteran diver who helped raise the Normandie, will give a running com-mentary. Mercer was the first diver to use a two-way amplifler for communicating with the surface while underwater. Dur-ing World War II he activated the diving school at Fort Screvins, Georgia, and as sal-vage master aboard the 7,000ton Thomas Farrell, directed salvaging of sunken ships in the European Theater.

A diver's equipment, according to Tracy, must be built to rigid specifications since his life depends upon its being in perfect condition. Most expensive single item is the copper diving helmet or "air hat." Other parts of the outfit are the air hose, diving dress or suit, lead-weighted water. He must work entirely by feel and sense of direction. Sometimes he is completely immersed in black mud while he works. Before he is ready to "go below" a diver must be an expert rigger, mechanic, carpenter and blaster, Tracy says. There are only 350 commer cial divers in the United States. and most of the big diving jobs are handled by Boston and New York outfits.

Rejuvenate Summer Chairs

If the summer chairs you've just taken out of the attic or garage look drab and seem a bit rickety, you can spruce them up and give them longer life by following these few tips from workshop editor Guy Hen-le's article in the June Woman's

Home Companion:
1. Recovering chairs has been made easy with a new home re-covering kit which includes canvas cut to size, fully hem-med, and enough tacks for complete job. Use old cover as gulde in tacking. Covers are made for deck or sling chairs.

2. Before putting on new can-vas covers be sure to tighten wooden chair frame. Reglue all loose joints (use waterproof glue) and add strengthening nails or screws where neces-sary. Straight or angle braces will often save otherwise use-less wood frame.
3. Paint chair with sash-and-trim paint (not house paint) for longest lasting outdoor wear. With enamel undercoater as base, paint will brighten chair, protect wood from moisture.

4. If your outdoor chairs are too broken for the above fix-up treatments, or if you need more furniture, the Companion shows a set of table and chairs which any amateur can make from stock lumber, new do-ityourself aluminum and plastic webbing. The patterns include a list of materials plus complete step-by-step directions for this set.

Cream.

3. Defuzz legs and underarms at least once a week with depilatory or, a razor. There are new shave lotions made especially for women. Thin fine hair may be erased from forearms and legs by means of a rubbing device.

4. Pretty-up your feet by massaging daily with an emolient. Smooth off calluses with moistured pumice stone. Pedicure at least once a week. A base coat, two coats of polish and a top coat will stand at the beach.

The question of how women are new shave lotions made especially for women. Thin fine hair may be erased from forearms and legs by means of a rubbing device.

4. Pretty-up your feet by massaging daily with an emolient. Smooth off calluses with moistured pumice stone. Pedicure at least once a week. A base coat, two coats of polish and a top coat will stand at the beach.

The question of how women are new shave lotions made especially fine in a man who can be best answered by a man, especially if he is a man who can tell women the truth about themselves and make them like it. Margaret Thompson Biddle, European editor of the Woman's Home Companion, asked this question of just such a man — novelist Somerset Maugham. In her June Companion column she passes along this saze's advice:

Above the Malchines are the new safe kind—no pumping—no prining Simply plug and the ready to start taking off your paper. Peciles with a few minutes you are ready to start taking off your paper. Perless to start taking

Seniors Told to Form Firm Opinions But Change Readily

Cautioned by the commencement speaker against the dangers of Communism and the perils of fighting it regardless of the means, 671 young men and women were graduated Saturday night from Newton High School at ceremonies in Dickinson Stadium watched by 4500 persons.

The main speaker at the exercises, Dr. John Ely Burchard of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, urged the graduates to hold to three thoughts—"One: believe that this country is very good, but help to make it even better; two: be united in the principle that in this country everyone has a right to his peaceable say and is bound by the same rules; and three: a unity of convictions that you have a responsibility to start making decisions about such grave matters right now."

Deploring "foolish consistency, the hobgoblin of little minds," Dr. Burchard, who is dean of the School of Humanities and Social Studies at M. I. T., declared, "Speak what you think now in hard words, and tomorrow speak what tomorrow thinks in hard words again, even though it contradicts everything you say today."

There is not much question but that the Republican State ticket next fall will have better balance and spread than the Democratic slate. How much that means on election day is debatable, but political experts believe it can be an important factor in a tight race. This is how the rival tickets will shape up next November, barring, of course, the remote possibility that a candidate nominated at the State convention might be defeated in the September primary:

Republican ticket: Christian A. Herter of Boston for Governor, Leverett Saltonstall of Dover for Senator, Summer G. Whittier of Everett for Lieutenant Governor, George Fingold of Concord for Attorney General, Michael J. McCarthy of East Bridgewater for Secretary of State, William P. Constantino of Clinton for State Auditor and Augustus G. Means of Essex for State Treasurer.

Democratic ticket: Robert F. Murphy of Malden for Governor, Foster Furcolo of Longmeadow for Senator, James A. Burke of Boston for Lieutenant Governor, John Collins of Boston for Attorney General, Edward J. ronin of Chelsea for Secretary of State, Thomas J. Buckley of Boston for State Auditor and Clement A. Riley of rwood for State Treasurer.

Except for Furcolo, the members of the Democratic slate are drawn entirely from Greater Boston, three of them from Boston itself. But that is not at all unusual, and the ticket has at least as much geographical spread as the average combination put up by the Democratic sible. Many of our people hold part-time jobs during the school year. Every year certain students need financial assistance; a few borrow money from local student funds while others find it necessary to leave col-lege and go to work. In the case of some of these students we feel rather certain that they should obtain at least a bachelor's degree and that they would do a good job wherever they went. Each year among high school seniors there are a few good students who lose out in the competition for scholarships. Scholarship aid will enable us to serve these young men and women.

Scholarship applications from members of the freshman class will be received only until August 1, 1954.

"Over 20 Years of Reliable Service

439 Newtonville Avenue My how you've grown! Have you realized how much our state has "sprouted" in just the past eight years? Almost everywhere you turn, you see more homes, more industry, more civic improvements. Interesting thing about "sprouting" - when an area grows, the Telephone Company must grow right along with it - to take care of increased demand for telephone service. And my, how Massachusetts has grown!

CONSTRUCTION AHEAD

So we've been building, too, to keep up. We've built new central offices, strung hundreds of thousands of miles of new wire, set thousands of poles, hired hundreds of new employees-seen to the countless details that go into giving you increased service.

And paid for it, too. From 1945 to 1953 we spent $301,000,000 in Massachusetts for construction alone. And we expect to spend $52,600,000 on construction in 1954.

Yes, giving you the good telephone service you expect is a big and expensive job. But that's what our job is - and you can be sure the telephone men and women will continue to work hard and long . . . to give our state all the good telephone service it needs.

Flag Day Address

By Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr.

Today marks the 177th Birthday of the Flag of the United States, for it was on June 14, 1777 that the Continental Congress adopted the following resolve:

"Resolved that the Flag of the United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white, that the Union be 13 stars, white on blue field, representing a new constellation." Each year on June 14 all of us have an extra birthday. It is the anniversary of the day when we, not only as a people, but as individuals, received our most precious gift-the gift of freedom. It has come down to us untarnished, brighter, dearer and stronger even than it was in the beginning. We have inherited earth's richest treasure.

Credit for designing our flag cannot be given to any one man for there is no historical proof to that effect. However, many historians are agreed that one Francis Hopkinson was more closely responsible than any other single person. He was a delegate to the Continental Congress from New Jersey, a member of the maritime committee and a signer of the Declaration of Independence. In 1779, he addressed a letter to the board of the admiralty in which he expressed the belief that he deserved some form of remuneration for services rendered. These services included "a great seal for the United States of America, with a reverse, a seal for the board of admiralty, and the Flag of the United States of America." His request was turned down and the report states that he "was not the only person consulted," in formulating the designs and he therefore did not deserve full payment.

The evolution of the flag is somewhat conjectural. General Washington expressed his theory on the evolution and symbolism of the stars and stripes in this statement:

"We take the star from heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity repre-senting liberty." It is interesting to note that it took the people of the United States and their chosen representatives almost a full year after declaring their independence from England to remove the likeness of the British flag from their own colors.

The story of Betsy Ross and her connection with the first American flag has become traditional in the minds of Americans especially its youth. According to the classic story, Betsy Ross, a young Philadelphia widow who supported herself and children by her excellent needlework, received a visit from Washington, Robert Morris, and George Ross, her deceased husband's uncle. They described a flag and asked her if she could make one for them. This she agreed to do and it is said to have been made almost a full year before the Congressional Resolution of June 14, 1777. There are no written reports or records to verify this theory— it is supported entirely by stories handed down by word of mouth from direct descendants of Mrs. Ross. However, as the story cannot be disproved it will probably continue to be an essential part of the American tradition.

The stars and stripes were flown for the first time over American troops under fire on August 3, 1777 at Fort Schuyler when it was besieged by the British and Indian forces. On August 2, reinforcements of 200 men of the 9th Massachusetts regiment under Lt. Col. Mellon reached the fort with ammunition and supplies. They also brought word of the new flag. The following day the stars and stripes were raised over the walls of the fort in the face of the enemy. The white stripes had been fashioned from a soldier's ammunition shirt, the red from the petticoat of a soldier's wife and the blue was from a cloak which Capt. Swartout had taken from the British at Peekskill. The story is taken from a letter still in existence

There is a story, not supported by documentary evidence, that John Paul Jones was the first man to raise the stars and stripes. An order placing Jones in command of the United States armed vessel, Ranger, was proposed on June 14, 1777 at the same time as the flag resolu tion. Shortly thereafter he proceeded to Portsmouth, N. H., where at his request a group of girls gathered together in a "Flag Bee" and fashioned an ensign for him. He is said to have raised it aboard the Ranger on July 4.

In 1794, the flag was officially altered to consist of 15 stripes alternate red and white and fifteen stars arranged in 5 rows of 3 ch. The two additional stars and stripes were for the States of Vermont and Kentucky. The former was admitted to the Union in 1791 and the latter in It remained then, regardless of the rapid admission of new States until the act passed in 1818, which provided that on July 4 of that year the Flag of the United States would be 13 horizontal stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be twenty stars, white in a blue field; and further provided that on the admission of every new state into the Union, one star be added, such addition to take effect on the 4th of July then next succeeding the admission. With the admission of New Mexico on January 5, 1912 and Arizona on February 14, 1912. the number of stars was brought to 48. Contrary to popular belief, the stars in the Union of the American Flag represent all 48 States collectively, and no single star can be designated as belonging to a particular state.

It is interesting, I believe, to note that in addition to the acts referred to there have been only five other Federal acts protecting the flag or regulating its use and display. One of these was the Flag Day Bill signed August 3, 1949, making June 14th officially Flag Day. Legal aspects of flag courtesy are handled by individual states, all of which have stringent laws. The proper display of the flag is a moral and patriotic obligation rather than Uniform Flag Law, based primarily upon requirements of Army Regulations.

Ne brief story of our flag should omit reference to our National Anthem and the circumstances which prompted its composition. In June 1813, Major Armstead was commandant of Fort McHenry. He reported to General Smith, Commanderin-Chief of Baltimore Defenses, that he ker Hill.
was ready for the expected attack by the British and requested a suitable ensign to Town Records): fly over the fort.

ney, a naval hero of the Revolution and the War of 1812, suggested the flag be made by Mary Young Pickersgill, a flag maker, who was commissioned to make it. It was a 30 foot hoist by a forty-two foot fly and contained 15 stars and 15 stripes. It was this flag, aloft over Fort McHenry during its bombardment, September 13 and 14, which inspired Francis Scott Key and 14, which inspired Francis Scott Key to write the "Star Spangled Banner."

The flag of our nation is a symbola symbol of the many ideals, principles Congress Should for the Safety descended from men of New and hopes on which our great country of the American Colonies determined to the following great country of the American Colonies determined to the congress Should for the Safety descended from men of New and hopes on which our great country of the American Colonies dewas founded and has been defended and clare them independent of the preserved. # Political Overtones

The Republican State Convention last Saturday was more orderly and more smoothly run than the Democratic conclave held a week earlier. The Democratic assembly was by far the more exciting and colorful and the G.O.P. proceedings almost cut and rdied by comparison.

Yet, if the Republicans had been holding their convention under the same circumstances as the Democrats, they also might have found themselves involved in a prolonged stalemate.

The only real fight waged at the G.O.P. conclave produced an upset and what was construed as a rebuke to Republican State Committee Chairman Elmer Nelson.

Nelson, incidentally, has been criticized and assailed for injecting himself into the fight for the nomination for State Treasurer. But the fact is that he was only seeking to do what would be expected of any State Committee Chairman. He was trying to bring about the nomination of what he considered the strongest ticket his party could put up.

There is a very simple explanation of why Nelson supported State Senate President Richard I. Furbush of Waltham for State Treasurer rather than Representative Augustus G. Means of Essex. He felt that Furbush, who carries a union card, would be a greater asset to the G.O.P. ticket than would Means and would be able to do more to help assure Republican success next November.

Representative Means based his fight for support on the claim that Nelson was trying to boss the convention. This made a very effective appeal to the delegates who resented any implication that they were merely taking orders or being delivered to anyone. Some of them un-doubtedly voted for Means to demonstrate their independence.

On the eve of the convention Means and his supporters served notice that if the Essex legislator were nominated, they would demand Nelson's resignation from the chairmanship of the Republican State Committee because of his interference in the Treasurer's contest. This was apparently merely a part of Means' shrewd political strategy. He obviously had no intention of carrying out the threat. When he was asked the next day, immediately following his nominawhether he was going to demand that Nelson get out, he acted as if he had never heard of such a thing before and declared that not only would he make no move against Nelson but that he would discourage his workers from making any.

Means is an adroit and hard working young politician. It now seems obvious that his political strategy was to make his fight against Nelson rather than against Furbush, and the tactics worked quite successfully.

Intra-party flights within the G.O.P. often leave feuds and bruises that don't fade out quickly. That wasn't the case at the convention last weekend. The contest for Treasurer really wasn't important enough to come in that category. It was simply a case of filling the last place on the Republican ticket and completing the slate.

The top office-seekers Herter, Senator Saltonstall, Lieutenant Governor Whittier and Attorney General Fingold—all were unopposed and pre-sented a very formidable campaign quartet as they squared away for the Novem-

Whittier caused a flicker of eyebrows

when, while making his address accepting the nomination for Lieutenant Governor, he announced that he will be a candidate for Governor two years from now. if Governor Herter does not seek another term, and made it plain that he would not be deterred from that objective.

That was hardly the time or place to be announcing candidacies for 1956. Most politicians, in fact, would never look be-yond their current fight, and Mr. Whittier still has the formality of being re-elected Lieutenant Governor and of getting by the energetic, hard-working Representative James A. Burke of Hyde Park.

One problem the G.O.P. apparently will not have to meet is that no member of its State ticket will be challenged in the September primary, and the candi-dates nominated can all begin planning their fight against the Democrats next

The indications are that there will be one or more battles in the Democratic primary. . . .

should there must be a tube going or gone. This is a normal assumption, since tube failure accounts for the areat majority of all service calls But there are other thinss that dam mar your set's picture perfection, including things that don't involve any set failure at all. The face of the picture tube, for instance, can become clouded over with dust and grime that seeps in behind the safety glass. This have can gradually destroy picture bright, ness without your noticing what's happening. . until one day you look at a friend's set and notice how much brighter it is!

Sound and picture synchronization can get out of line, too, making it more difficult to tune in the channel properly. This synchronization of sight and sound needs periodic checking. Such things as focus brightness and contrast, horizontal and vertical centering of the picture need periodic adjustment. Some of this you can do with the front controls. but major adjustments are occasionally needed.

In other words, to get the best performance from your set it needs a periodic checkup, just like your car. This is the best way, too, to catch potential shorts in the high voltage circuits, weakening tubes and the like before real trouble develops. A thoroush checkup on your set's performance is a job for an experienced TV technician. And whether it's a tube cleaning, a checkup or a major repair job, we'll do it right.

Competition Aids Existence In U.S. Survey Of Prosperity

A number of analyses have ben made of living standards in Soviet Russia. One of the most thorough and authoritative was conducted at Columbia University, and its conclusions have just been released. The researchers studied the prices Soviet citizens pay for goods in the state stores and related them to income, and thus arrived at these citizens' "real wages." The conditions obtaining in various periods, beginning with 1926, were compared.

was learned: "According to our calculaions, the Soviet worker after the five-year plans have never een as well off in terms of real wages as he was in 1928. One of our calculations, perhaps theoreour calculations, perhaps theore tically the more defensible than in 1928."

Many reasons can be advance ed why this should be so. One family life. of the most important, certainly, lies in the very nature of the communist economic philosophy. The state owns or controls all the agencies of production and distribution. It sets by fiat the Mrs. Sadie Better of Boston. distribution. It sets by fiat the price the shopper must pay, and it normally includes a huge profit in order to siphon off pur chasing power. There is no competition in any reasonable sense of the word.

The name of the Spaulding School in Newton Centre became more significant recently when the children had an opportunity to meet the distinguished educator for whom their school was named.

Dr. Frank E. Spaulding, Sterling professor of education, emeritus, of Yale University, spent several hours visiting the school named in his honor, con-versed with children on each grade level and observed them at work. Dr. Spaulding, who is 87 years old, came East from California to attend the 65th reunion of the Amherst College class of 1889. This is the first time he has been in this region since the Spaulding School opened on February 1.

In 1941, Dr. Spaulding was conored by the American Association of School Administrators "in recognition of a lifetime of distinguished service to American Education." From 1904-1913 his distinguished service was rendered as superintendent of the Newton Public Schools.

The city's Recreation Department also sponsors two softball leagues within the framework of the Twi Leagues. For spectators used to the somewhat leisurely pace of hardball games, softball is played at a dizzy pace, with action crammed into every minute . . . Where baseball places a premium on power, softball games are won on bunts, baserunning and lightning-like plays. Fractions of a second mean more in softball, where the baselines are far shorter than its hardball cousin, and the completion of a game can change in an instant . . . The two leagues, playing nightly, are composed mainly of workers sponsored by their company or of friends of Newton business-men. This gives young and old a chance to meet on fairly equal terms . . . Another hardball team operating in Newton is the Lesley Club, which plays in the Inter-City League once or twice a week . . . So there's the menu for this summer: four Little Leagues, four hardball leagues and two softball loops. Take your choice, but by all means get out to your neighborhood playground once in a while and lend the players your support. You won't be disappointed.

Careers in Retailing Are Available

A new release from a leading retail association* observes, "While the general employment market has eased in recent months, the need of many retail stores for executive trainees remains unfilled."

Because of that, stores all the country are distributing to students, schools and colleges, copies of a report entitled "Retailing Has A Career For You." It is designed to lead to a better understanding of the complex operations and the many skills that are needed in present-day retailing. It raises basic questions which an individual seeking a career should ask himself, and points out the qualifications the various branches of retailing demand.

Retailing, taken collectively, is America's biggest business. The greater part of the entire national income moves across retail counters. And retailing is a dynamic enterprise, which is always going forward, always expanding, always seek-ing ways to do the job better. ## Conduct Annual Memorial Rites For Fire Dept.

The annual memorial exercis es for deceased members of the Newton Fire Department were held Sunday afternoon at the Department Memorial Monument located in front of Fire the Headquarters in Newton

The main address was delivered by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. The welcoming address was given by Chief John E. Corcoran, who also called the roll. Wreaths were placed on the monument by Firefighters Henry E. Halewood and James T. Coffey.

Rev. W. Edge Dixon gave the invocation, and the benediction was delivered by Rev. John J. Mulcahy, both chaplains. After the Police and Fire De partments Glee Club sang four hymns, Francis B. Daly sounded "Taps."

The ceremonies concluded with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "The Star Spangled Banner" by the Glee Club.

Also attending were Aldermen Adelaide B, Ball, Charles H. Cosgrove, William P. Ripley and Stuart M. Spaulding, and

City Clerk Monte G. Basbas. The program was arranged by Capt. William H. Fitzge ald of Engine 9 and retired assist-ant chief Herbert W. Boothby of the Newton Firemen's Relief Association.

Recital Friday By Piano Pupils Of Elsie Foss

A group of piano pupils will be presented in a recital tomor-row (Friday) at 7:45 p.m. in the Newtonville Methodist Church Assembly Hall by Mrs. Elsie Foss, Newtonville pianist and teacher.

Parents, friends and the general public are invited to attend, and tickets are not required. ed. Compositions by Chopin, Debussy, Rachmaninoff, Sibelius, Torjussen and Grieg will be played by students of the advanced group.

Representing Mrs. Foss' artist pupils at this recital will be Robert Shaffer, a junior at New-ton High School who has won wide recognition in his concerts the past two years. He has appeared as guest artist at the Newtonville Woman's Club and the Thursday Morning Music Club of Watertown. One year ago he gave a joint concert with Miss Norma Baldani, another artist pupil of Mrs. Foss', at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, and a month later he was engaged as guest artist in the Seventh Annual Spring Concert the Newton Community

Robert started his piano training with Mrs. Foss at the age of six. At the concert tomorrow, he will be heard in the second and third movements from the famous Grief Concerto, with Miss Sue See-sted playing the orchestral part on the second piano.

Other pupils who will appear in the recital are Nancy Oncley, Constance Worthen, Janice Monroe, Jane Dahl, Elaine Themo, Sandra Skully, Mary Auryansen, Betty Erickson, David Salvini, Linda McKenney, Stephen Beisel, Joel Mar-tin, Linda Dahl, Jean Taylor, Karen Beisel.

State Chairman Nelson Key Figure in GOP Campaign . . . Resignation Would Be Serious Blow to Republican Hopes

A great deal has been written about the failure of Republican State Committee Chairman Elmer C. Nelson to accomplish the nomination of State Senate President Richard I. Furbush as the G.O.P. candidate for State Treasurer, but comparatively little has been said about the outstanding job Nelson did in mapping out a potent Republican State ticket.

Nelson in an unprecedented action will seek a vote of confidence from the Republican State Committee members next week. If he doesn't get it, he will submit his resignation and return to his automobile business.

There is scant likelihood that will happen, however, because most Republicans, including those who were so intent 12 days ago on directing a rebuff at Nelson, now recognize that his retirement from the G.O.P. firing line, would be a serious blow to their party's hopes for victory next November.

So Nelson undoubtedly will receive a rousing expression of confidence from the State Committee members and will be asked please to continue as the Republican campaign director and to manage the G.O.P. fight in Massachusetts to hold the Governorship, a seat in the U. S. Senate and control of the two branches of the State Legislature and the Executive Council. (Continued on Page 4) -OVERTONES-

CITY'S PLAYGROUNDS OPEN MONDAY OON FOR SUMMER SEASON

91 Leaders, Aides Supervise Play Programs in 32 Areas

'Newton's 32 playgrounds will open June 28 at 2 p.m. for the summer season," says C. Evan Johnson, recreation commissioner.

Ninety-one playground leaders and assistants will supervise the recreation areas. Sixty-eight of these workers have had previous experience in the Newton system and the rest in either summer camps or other playgrounds.

Special supervision is offered in Girls' and Boys' Handcrafts. Miss Gladys Forbush and Mrs. Beverly Brekke will take charge of Girls' Crafts, and Mr. Robert Jackson will offer many new ideas for Boys' Crafts. The Handcraft programs will be available in all the playgrounds.

'Aside from the handcrafts, the recreation program will include games and sports for all ages, group and folk dancing, tennis, picnics, hikes, trips, pageants, plays and field days," continued Mr. John-

635-Acre Tract Sold By Office Of J. T. Burns

One of the largest residenrester traited from the largest residential tracts of land to be sold in recent years in the suburban Boston area has just been consummated by John T. Burns and Sons, Inc.

The Newton firm sold land in the Norwood and Westwood areas, part of which is already developed, to Norwood Properties, Inc.
Formerly owned by the Westover Corporation and Housing Securities Corporation, the land was controlled by George P. Willet and consisted of a number of parcels which had been acquired by Mr. Willet at var-ious times during the past forty years.

The property, during the past twenty years, has been partially prepared for development by Mr. Willet by the construction of over eight miles of parkways and roads through the project. It will be one of the greatest residential areas ever developed in a suburban district.

The total assessed value of the property is $315,000 and its complete development will entail the expenditure, over a Richard B. Grosby, Daniel W. and Troop 33: Richard Vec-Kent, Peter F. R. #### Political Overtones

It is dawning somewhat belatedly on some Republican politicians that Nelson had no selfish motives in supporting Fur-bush for the nomination for State Treasurer but was merely trying to bulwark the Republican slate for the battle ahead.

It was Nelson who persuaded Representatives William J. McCarthy of East Bridgewater and William P. Constantino of Clinton to give up their seats in the Legislature in order to accept places on the Republican State ticket. That has been hailed as a piece of shrewd strategy. Yet, the only difference between Nelson's action in supporting Constantino and Mc-Catrhy and his decision to back Furbush was that the latter had stiffer opposition.

While they are not saying a great deal about it, Republican leaders realize that the McCarthy-Pentagon hearings have dealt a heavy blow to their party, have dimmed its hopes of retaining control of Congress after next fall's elections and have lessened its prospects of carrying Massachusetts as well as other States in November.

That, presumably, is why Nelson gave so much thought to the seletion of the men who will fill the minor places on the G.O.P. slate. He knew that Governor Herter and Senator Saltonstall were in for a real fight next autumn, and he wanted to give them the strongest supporting cast that could be lined up behind them.

The criticism of Nelson for attempting to swing the nomination for State Treasurer to Furbush was entirely un-warranted. It was based on the theory that the chairman of the Republican State Committee should remain neutral in intra-party fights, but for Nelson or any State Committee head to follow such a policy would be to relin-quish the right to try to strengthen a State ticket.

Nelson is a shrewd and sound student of politics. He is devoted to Governor Herter. If he weren't, he would not have accepted the State Committee chairmanship in the first place. He knows that Herter has given the people of Massachusetts an excellent administration. But he knows, too, that such events as the McCarthy-Pentagon hearings, over which Governor Herter had no control whatever, to some extent have impaired his chances of winning reelection.

Under normal circumstances, Massachusetts also is a Democratic State.

Developments that will shape public opinion and political trends in the months between now and the first Tuesday of next November may help or harm the Republican cause, but there is little doubt that the G.O.P. candidates will be in for a real battle-so hard a battle that President Eisenhower will come here just before election to speak for Messrs. Herter and Saltonstall and spearhead the closing drive in their behalf.

Nelson was trying to strengthen and fortify the Republican ticket for that fight, and he drew a fusillade of criticism for its efforts. One sure thing is that the G.O.P. will need Elmer Nelson in the campaign next autumn.

There is a good deal of speculation as to whether Furbush will seek reelection to the State Senate in view of his failure to win the nomination for Treasurer.

Furbush was prompted to seek that office by the action of a group of Republican Senators in informing him that they did not intend to vote for him as their president next year, in the event that he returned to the upper legislative chamA Republican tradition of long standing is that no man serves more than four years as president of the Massachusetts Senate. It would be a departure from that custom, if Furbush were elected as president again in 1955. Furbush is now confronted with the choice of seeking to break that tradition, of stepping down to the role of ordinary member or of accepting an appointive position from Governor Herter.

An unusual aspect to the situation is that if Furbush received any Republican votes for the Senate persidency, as he undoubtedly would, the Democratic Solons, who usually cast a token vote for one of their own members, stand ready to swing him the support to achieve his election. Whether Furbush would agree to such an action is uncertain.

Thomas E. Dewey, who is now serving his 12th successive year as Governor of New York State, has caused widespread speculation and political mystification by refusing to say whether he will stand for a fourth term or retire from office at the end of this year.

Close friends of the inscrutable Dewey declared last week that the New York Governor has decided "definitely and irrevocably" not to seek reelection. They reported that he intends to accept a position as the senior partner in a leading law firm and to teach at a famous law school.

Political observers, however, point out that a similar statement was issued four years ago but that Dewey finally stood for a fourth term. Because of persistent reports that President Eisenhower will retire voluntarily from the White House after four years, it has been felt that Dewey would strive to hold the New York Governorship to remain in the running as a possible Presidential contender in 1956.

But those who should be in the best position to know say that, after 25 years in public office, Dewey is both tired of its burdens and concerned about his family's economical security and that he will return to the practice of law a little more than six months from now.

Dewey is one of the most remarkable men to come upon the political scene in the last quarter of a century. As a young racket-busting District Attorney he sought the Republican nomination for President 14 years ago but lost it to the late Wendell Willkie.

In 1944 and 1948 the G.O.P. nominated him to carry its Presidential banner. Both times he lost. He appeared to have the Presidency almost within his grasp in 1948. But Dewey was a man to whom many persons, some of them in his own party, couldn't warm.

Dewey more than any other single person was responsible for the nomination of President Eisenhower at the 1952 Republican national convention. But for him and the way he was able to whip the New York delegation into line, the late Senator Taft probably would have won the Presidential endorsement that always just eluded him.

Now it appears that Dewey is about to call it a career and go back to the private practice of law. If he does, it will mean

1: That Dewey is giving up any idea of trying a third time for the Presidency because he would have little chance of achieving the nomination without controlling the powerful New York State bloc of votes.

That the Democrats will have a much brighter chance of capturing the Governorship of the Empire State, if Dewey is out of the way. Dewey has dominated the New York scene so completely that it will not be easy for the G.O.P. to find someone to step into his place. It may mean that Congressman Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., will attain the office which his famous father used as a springboard to the Presidency.

One reason Oklahoma has so many strange gubernatorial elections is that it has a law providing that its Governors cannot succeed themselves and that after serving a four-year term they must wait four years before running again. As a result Mrs. Willie E. Murray, wife of Governor Johnston Murray, is seeking the office in order to continue the administrative programs of her husband. She is the daughter-in-law of the famous Alfalfa Bill Murray, father of the present Governor, who served as Oklahoma's chief executive from 1931 to 1935.

In what is described as a "strong ap-peal to the petticoat vote," Mrs. Murray has promised to appoint a woman to every major State board and commission, if she is elected.

She is only one of 21 candidates running in the Democratic gubernatorial primary, and under the curious Oklahoma law, there will be one runoff on July 6 and a second on July 27 between the two top contenders in the first contest. Mrs. Murray's campaign is arousing a great deal of interest.

Coordination-

work of the library to better advantage than it is at present. The supervision of the adult book collection, book selection, withdrawals and city wide public service may wise ly remain an administrative responsibility of the assistant to the librarian. The juvenile book collection of the library is at present under the direc-tion of the supervisor of work with children, an administra-tive assistant position. The appointment of two additional administrative assistants is recommended as an organization improvement, All auxiliary services should be placed under the direction of a head of auxiliary services, including a centralized book processing department, book ordering, the binding and repairing of books. The head of public services at the Main Library, in charge of reference and circulation departments would be the other natural administrative position. The two new positions could be formed by combining present positions. The personal educational and professional qualifications for appointment to these administrative posi-tions should be of a high level to insure leadership and responsibility.

The Committee has some further recommendations regarding public services. It recom-mends that the staff operation of the children's rooms be a Branch Library responsibility. The Supervisor of Work with Children would remain responsible for the selection of all books added to the juvenile collection, consulting with the children's librarians in the branches and the Schools De-partment. It is further recommended that the services of a qualified expert be secured to recommend withdrawals as as well as additions to the library's art holdings, this work to be accomplished in the course of the summer of 1954 The committee believes that the art material should continue to be an integral part of reference collection that the reference collection should be reviewed, and consolidated in the interest of improved reference service. The Newton Free Library has an especially large per cap ita book collection, some three volumes per capita or more than double the national ave its size. The matter of quanti tative statistics is being questioned; the expense of retaining seldom used books is realized; special book collections are being relegated to research and special libraries. There are subject fields of knowledge where older titles misinform the public and should be replaced by new titles. Because of the limited staff and the pressure of expanding services, such as the Main Library addition and the increased juve nile circulation, the important program of book withdrawals book replacements is es sential for the next two or three years. The result of such a program will eliminate the crowding of books on the shelves, which is destructive to books and increases the ex pense of shelving them; and will make readily available for public use a more up-to-date collection of material. There are sections, of course, where the older titles are of increased value and will receive added care and protection. This proreplacements in now underway with the full approval of the Library Board, made after care ul consideration.

As a matter of history, the

Newton Free Library is one of seven public libraries in Massa chusetts using the "Cutter" system of classifying books This system has merits and advantages, which can be argued at length, and was basic

The small tubes (there are from around 18 up to 30 or more in a TV receiver) do a big job in video reception, and it's no wonder that the most frequent service need is small tube replacement.

If you were able to follow the TV signal as it enters your set, it would go something like this. Pirst the sound and sisht signals are pleked in from the antenna by the radio frequency amplifier tubes. They then ro to the "mixer-oscillator" section, where these weak signals are strengthened. In the next phase the video signals are separated from the sound signals passes through amplifier and detector tubes before coming out of the loudspeaker.

That's only part of the story. Another section of the chassis received the synchronizing impulses from the TV station that control the horizontal and vertical aspects of the picture. These are very high voltage circuits. Any change in the condition of the parts and tubes, selfing the mean distorted pictures on pictures. Tube breakdown, ageing, too much heat—all of these things mean picture trouble. Which can usually be corrected simply be replacing the defective tube. For trouble-free viewing, it pays to buy a quality set. You'll find a complete line of top-notch sets from a to Z in our big TV display. We also have a fine selection of guaranteed reconditioned used sets which will keep you in touch with the TV world while at your summer cottage.

Two Newton Men To Be Honored At Banquet Mon.

Harry J. Greenblatt of 28 Manet road, Chestnut Hill, and Quincy I. Abrams of 65 Ferncroft road, Waban, will be honored at a dinner at which former vice-president Alben W. Barkley will be the principal speaker in the Hotel Somerset Boston, Monday evening, along with other past presidents of District 1. B'nai B'rith.

The dinner will be one of the principal functions sponsored by the Greater Boston B'nai B'rith Israel Bond Committee to complete the organization's pledge to sell $200,000 of De velopment Issue Israel Bonds in 1954. Committee efforts to date indicate that the B'nai B'rith quota will be reached within the period allotted for the Israel Bond campaign. Greater Boston B'nai B'rith lodges and chapters are among the first in the country to sell Israel Bonds to achieve the pledge of national president Philip Klutznick that the organization will sell ten percent of the national quota for 1954 that is $75,000,000.

Eight Newton Students Plan Mexico Visit

This summer eight Newton High School students, five boys and three girls, will be the guests of Mexican students in order to improve their knowledge of Spanish and get better acquainted with our friends south of the border.

The five boys-James Haney, Henry Genaske, Anthony Mandile, Alan Sherman and Rich ard Blue—will travel by bus, and the girls—Lois Rabinovitz, Carole Richman and Constance Glaser—will take a plane. They will stop on their way to visit important American several cities before they spend seven weeks in Mexico.

and he has been one of the key men in Speaker Gibbons' (Continued from Page 1) of that town and was graduated House reorganization. As chairfrom Amherst College in 1909, tion laws, he was author of magna cum laude and with the Pre-Primary Convention membership in Phi Beta Kappa. Law and secured its enactment. Since 1923, he has been his class He has also served as acting secretary. He has spent his business life in insurance and is chairman of the committee on public safety. a member of the Boston Life much legislation for Newton-Underwriters Association and the Newton Pension Act, relothe National Association of Life cation of Route 128 to by-pass Newton, Newton Election Act, Underwriters. The Rawsons have lived at 22 Marlboro street, Newton, for 35 years.

He has been active in Newton affairs for many years. He has worked for the Newton Community Chest campaign ever since that project was started in 1932 as worker, captain, major and the last four years as assistant village chairman for Newton. Rep. Raw-son was also village major in the Newton-Wellesley Hospital drive a few years ago. A mem-ber of Eliot Church of Newton, he also is a director of the Stone Institute and the Newton Improvement Association.

Rep. Rawson served nine years on the Newton Board of Aldermen as alderman-at-large from Ward 7, being a member of the committees on claims and rules, and public works. He served as chairman of claims and rules for seven years. In that post, he twice revised the zoning ordinances and improved the zoning of every part of the city. In 1939 he secured the enactmen of a new building code, which is still regarded as one of the best in the state.

Mr. Rawson was first elected to the House of Representa-tives in 1942 and has been reelected ever since. As clerk and as chairman of the committee on election laws, he had a major part in the first revision of those statutes since 1911. As clerk of the committee on military affairs and public safety, he took part in much legislation for veterans and their dependents and also for the modernizing and reconstruction of Logan Airport.

With Sen. Clampit, he was co-author of the Public Safety Act of 1943, resulting from the Cocoanut Grove disaster. From that start, Rep. Rawson and Sen. Clampit have rewritten the building safety and fire pre-vention laws of the state.

Rep. Rawson has always opposed extravagance in government and has worked for sound economy. For years he fought for legislation to make the state and its subdivisions reimburse our voluntary hospitals for the full cost of welfare and old age assistance patients-a fight finally won last

He succeeded in defeating the attempt to impose an inheritance tax on life insurance proceeds and led the successful fight to kill a proposed tax on savings bank and cooperative bank deposits. He has also worked hard to secure tax relief for those dependent upon so-called "unearned income."

During the Dever administration, Rep. Rawson was one of determined group waged a continual battle against the extravagances and devious policies of those four years.

During the Herter administration, Rep. Rawson has sup-
